Student Handbook
2024-2025

Mission

The mission of the Lewis Honors College is to better the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the world by helping students to explore their purpose, develop intellectually, and lead with integrity.

Vision

The Lewis Honors College will provide a world-class Honors experience that is known for the success of its students, the quality of its faculty and curriculum, the respect of its peers, and the economic and social progress of our communities.

Values

The Lewis Honors College is guided by its core values:

- ◇ Excellence
- ◇ Integrity
- ◇ Innovation
- ◇ Curiosity
- ◇ Mutual respect and human dignity for all
- ◇ Acting against hatred of any person or group
- ◇ Diversity and inclusivity
- ◇ Academic freedom
- ◇ Personal accountability and social responsibility
- ◇ A sense of community
- ◇ Civic engagement and service

Dean's Welcome

Dear Students,

Congratulations! You have each earned your place in the Lewis Honors College (LHC) through your hard work, determination, and strength of character. On behalf of the faculty and staff of the Lewis Honors College, I want to welcome you to our community where we value excellence, integrity, and intellectual bravery.

The mission of the College is also our commitment to you; to help you explore your purpose, develop intellectually, and to lead with integrity. This Handbook is a guide to the resources available to you and the expectations that we have of you. Here you will find the requirements for remaining in good standing in the College and for graduating with University Honors. We look forward to presenting you with your Honors medallion at graduation!

What you will not find in this Handbook are all of the incredible people who make up the UK Honors Community and who are ready to support and help you along your journey. Most of us can be found in Lewis Hall, the home of the LHC, where your Honors Academic Advisors, Personal Counselors, and Lewis Faculty have their offices. I encourage you not only to make an appointment each semester with your assigned advisor and counselor, but also to simply stop by and chat with faculty and staff. And don't forget to join us for Donuts with the Dean each month! We are here for you and we look forward to meeting you and seeing you grow in your time at UK and in the LHC.

I wish you all the best as you pursue your purpose.

Sincerely,

Christian M. M. Brady, DPhil
The T. W. Lewis Dean
Lewis Honors College

Student Handbook Purpose

In keeping with the ideals of our mission, vision and values, the Lewis Honors College provides students with services aimed to holistically support high-achieving students through a stimulating academic program with advising and personal counseling. Our curriculum is designed to complement a student's major areas of study and prepare them for success after graduation. Students participating in the Honors College both broaden and deepen their studies through Honors seminars, departmental Honors courses, and a variety of experiential options. Our team of dedicated advisors and counselors work closely with students to tailor their experience at the University of Kentucky so that they are prepared for success as they continue in their academic and career trajectories. This document is intended to provide students with guidelines for mutual expectations over their four years in the college. Students should always refer to the website for the most up-to-date information, expectations, and resources.

ACADEMIC, INTEGRITY, AND COMMUNITY EXPECTATIONS

In order to earn University Honors and the Lewis Honors College Medallion, students complete a 30-hour Honors curriculum, maintain their academic integrity, and attain a 3.4 Cumulative GPA by graduation. The curriculum and all other requirements are outlined below.

CURRICULAR & ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

- HON 140 Honors Foundation Seminar (3 credits)
- CIS/WRD 112 Accelerated Writing & Composition (3 credits)
- Two Lower-Level Honors Courses (6 credits)
- Two Upper-Level Honors Courses (6 credits)
- Honors Elective (3 credits)
- Honors Experience Courses (6 credits)
- Honors Thesis, grade B or above (3 credits)
- 3.4 CGPA by graduation

Most of your Honors requirements will also count towards your major requirements. You can work with your Honors advisor to make strategic choices about course selections.

Students who enter as second- or third-year students via the upper-level admission process complete a shorter curriculum.

HONORS FOUNDATION SEMINAR – HONORS 140 KNOWLEDGE AND SOCIETY

As a foundational course to the Honors curriculum, Knowledge and Society takes a vested interest in helping students develop an appreciation for the pursuit of knowledge. By exploring the links between subjective and social phenomena, students will gain a clearer understanding of the way inquiry and curiosity are implicated in our familial, cultural, historical, linguistic, educational, and political worlds. This course aims to foster an environment where students are equipped with the tools to confidently discern the assumptions, premises and expectations of variant claims to knowledge and truth. Knowledge and Society is an invitation extended to students to (re)imagine their identity as agents in an interconnected and ever-expanding global context.

LOWER-LEVEL HONORS COURSES (6 HOURS)

Lower-Level Honors courses are taught by Honors Faculty and have been created specifically for Honors students, typically in their first and second years (100 and 200 level). In addition, departments across the university offer sections of existing courses to Honors students. HON courses are for Honors students only, have a maximum enrollment of 25 students, and rely heavily on discussion. These courses are distinct in their focus on deep exploration of the subject and frequently in their interdisciplinary scope. Many Lower-Level Honors courses meet UK Core requirements and help the student progress toward graduation irregardless of their major. Students should consult the course descriptions published on our website for detailed course descriptions. This is particularly important given that topics change every semester, and different sections of the same course vary tremendously.

UPPER-LEVEL HONORS COURSES (6 HOURS)

Upper-level Honors courses are taught by Honors Faculty and have been created specifically for Honors students, typically in their third and fourth year (300+ level). HON courses and departmental Honors sections have a maximum enrollment of 25 students and rely heavily on discussion. Some courses provide UK Core credit; others can be used as electives, preparation for the Honors thesis, and experiential credit. Students should consult the course descriptions published on our website for detailed course descriptions.

COURSE AGREEMENTS AND GRADUATE-LEVEL COURSES

Students may further tailor their progression through Honors to meet their educational goals and fulfill Upper-Level course requirements by converting a current undergraduate course (200+ level) into a class that counts towards their Honors requirements with a Course Agreement or by taking a graduate-level course.

Honors Course Agreements allow a student to take a non-Honors course for Honors course credit by enhancing the experience with components that provide additional rigor, increased independence, and/or greater depth of study. In order to form a Course Agreement, students should ask the course instructor to help develop additional or alternative reading and/or assignments. The student then records the agreed-upon adjustments, outlines how the adjustments make the course Honors-worthy and relevant to their interests, obtains their instructor's signature, and submits the Course Agreement to their Honors Academic Advisor for tracking by the end of the 2nd week of the semester.

Honors students can take 400G, 500-level and (with permission) 600-level courses to fulfill Honors Upper-Level course requirements if the student completes the graduate requirements of the course. As with Course Agreements, students should request to take graduate courses to count towards Honors in an email to their Honors advisor by the end of the 2nd week of the semester.

HONORS EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION (6 HOURS)

Honors experiences provide unique ways for Honors students to expand their horizons by conducting academic research, learning from professionals in their field, working with community service agencies, serving their communities in conjunction with learning goals, or by immersing themselves in other cultures around the world. All education abroad courses, internships taken for credit, undergraduate research experiences, and some service-learning courses satisfy this requirement. Many majors require such courses. A pre-approved list organized by major can be found here. Students should work with their Honors advisor and CPD Counselor to find opportunities that align with their interests and goals. Six credit hours of Honors Experience credit are required. Please review the Honors Experiential Education handout.

HONORS ELECTIVE (3 HOURS)

Honors students can fulfill the Honors Elective requirement by taking any Honors course at any level, a graduate course, or by entering into a Course Agreement. Students will work closely with their Honors advisor to ensure the elective course supports their exploration of purpose, intellectual development, and leadership.

HONORS THESIS (3 HOURS)

The Honors thesis provides a culmination to an Honors student's academic career. The Honors thesis should be an outgrowth of the student's academic work, rooted in their chosen discipline, in most cases in the student's major or minor. Some students prepare for their thesis with 3 hours of research, independent study, or methodology courses within their major. All students should file a thesis plan the semester before they enroll in and complete their thesis class. Theses take very different forms across the university, and follow the norms and parameters of the students' major discipline. Many majors have a capstone or thesis course that the student can take and use to complete the thesis requirement. Other majors support independent research and faculty supervision of individual projects. In cases where a student has multiple majors, minors, or interdisciplinary interests that are not captured in a major or minor, the student should work with a faculty member to identify a topic that is supported by their academic work. The Honors thesis offers an opportunity - along with the responsibility - for a student to work with a faculty member on a research or creative project that integrates and expands on previous work. The Honors thesis will incorporate relevant, current research/previous work and demonstrate excellence in its design, execution, analysis, and presentation. An Honors thesis proposal must be submitted by the student and approved by the faculty member advising the project and the Lewis Honors College (proposals and finished work submitted to your Honors academic advisor). All students must provide both a written artifact and a thesis presentation.

"Getting a head start on your thesis is as simple as talking to a faculty member in the field you are interested. Find out why they love what they do and then see if there is room in their research (lab, project, what have you) for you to participate. You could earn 3 of your 6 credits of required honors experience just by working in their lab or on their research, learning about the field and your own interests at the same time."

–Dean Brady

After successful completion of the Honors thesis a student will be able to:

1. Clearly identify a project goal and/or problem and articulate a subsequent research question/hypothesis or creative objective.
2. Discover and evaluate existing research/previous work relevant to a project of interest.
3. Formulate a plan to achieve desired research or creative goals, while identifying opportunities to make improvements throughout the process.
4. Recognize the importance of meeting established goals and/or deadlines.
5. Demonstrate a command of relevant scholarship/creativity and offer a rationale for the work's contributions to a discipline in an appropriate manner in the form of a written and an oral component.

Students must earn a grade of an A or B on both their Honors thesis (or equivalent artifact, depending on the student's home department requirements) and in the course associated with the thesis in order to graduate with University Honors.

The Lewis Honors College strongly encourages students to share their thesis work by uploading their completed thesis text into UKnowledge and participating in the Undergraduate Research Showcase held every Fall and Spring.

Students interested in seeing examples of UK Honors theses should explore the holdings in UKnowledge.

INTEGRITY

Membership in Lewis Honors College is an honor and a privilege for students and comes with a host of benefits. To participate fully and utilize all the advantages the College has to offer, students must uphold all LHC expectations and requirements, as well as those of the University at large. All Honors students abide by the University Academic Policy of Integrity, the University Code of Student Conduct and the Lewis Honors College Pledge of Excellence.

Lewis Honors College Pledge of Excellence

“As a member of the Lewis Honors College I dedicate myself to intellectual inquiry, life-long learning, and critical thinking. I pledge to demonstrate personal and academic integrity both inside and outside the classroom. I pledge to always be willing to engage my peers in earnest and respectful discussion with an open mind.”

An Honors student will be dismissed from the Lewis Honors College if found responsible of an academic integrity violation that:

- Rises to the level of being recorded by the Registrar or,
- Leads to suspension or is recorded on their unofficial transcript

All due process and appeals available through the University Appeals Board and the Office of Student Conduct will be upheld. Students dismissed from the Lewis Honors College will not receive a refund on their Honors fee.

REQUIRED CUMULATIVE GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Honors students are expected to maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.40 or higher. Honors students whose CGPA has fallen below 3.4 but above 3.0 at the end of the academic year will be placed on Academic Support. Honors students whose CGPA has fallen below 3.0 at the end of the academic year will be dismissed from the Honors College (but will have the option to appeal). In order to graduate with University Honors, a student must have a cumulative GPA of a 3.40 or higher at the completion of their degree.

GRADUATING WITH UNIVERSITY HONORS

Students who complete all Lewis Honors College requirements graduate with the distinction of the Lewis Honors College degree on their UK transcript. Students also receive an Honors Medallion and are invited to participate in the Honors Medal Ceremony prior to graduation. They are also eligible for several graduation awards.

GRADUATION AWARDS

The following graduation awards are presented at the Spring Honors Medal Ceremony. Students expecting to graduate in December are eligible to be nominated for the graduation awards presented in the Spring semester before they graduate.

Raymond Betts Crystal Award

Awarded to an Honors student for outstanding service to the Lewis Honors College and the University of Kentucky community at large. Students must be nominated by student peers, faculty, or staff.

Diachun Award

Awarded to a graduating senior who has demonstrated outstanding research talent in the form of his/her thesis and coursework and who holds high promise for further professional development in graduate school. This $1,000 award is to be used for expenses in graduate or professional school. Students must be nominated by student peers, faculty, or staff.

Leadership Award

Awarded to a graduating senior who has excelled in leadership positions at the university, college, or major level. Students must be nominated by student peers, faculty, or staff.

Diachun Scholar

The graduating senior, majoring in science or a related field, who has the highest academic achievement will be named the Diachun Scholar. Selection is based on GPA and course rigor at the end of December before the graduating year. Other academic accomplishments may be given consideration, including academic achievements (such as election to Phi Beta Kappa or Sigma Xi), scholarships such as the Rhodes Scholarship or the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, recommendations from thesis advisors, and breadth of intellectual interest (including courses in the humanities). The recognition includes a monetary award of $3,000, which can be spent at the recipient's discretion.

Evans Scholar

The graduating senior, majoring in humanities or a related field, who has the highest academic achievement will be named the Evans Scholar. Selection is based on GPA and course rigor at the end of December before the graduating year. Other academic accomplishments may be given consideration, including academic achievements (i.e., election to Phi Beta Kappa or Sigma Xi), scholarships such as the Rhodes Scholarship or the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, recommendations from thesis advisors, and breadth of intellectual interest (such as courses in the sciences). The recognition includes a monetary award of $3,000, which can be spent at the recipient's discretion.

Nominations for Graduation Awards can be made here.

A COMMUNITY OF BELONGING REQUIRES YOUR PARTICIPATION

The Lewis Honors College strives to cultivate a distinctive, supportive, accessible, and diverse Honors community where all students experience a sense of belonging.

A sense of belonging and place is important to student success. We also aim to foster a community within the University where difficult and challenging conversations can be held with integrity and respect. Honors Faculty and staff should exemplify openness and respect to students, and should demonstrate how to disagree on important topics while being respectful to one another. We believe that open conversations are essential to a vibrant intellectual community.

The Lewis Honors College is committed to providing opportunities for student involvement and development throughout their career. From the moment students set foot on campus until they graduate with Honors, we provide a community-oriented learning environment that engages students in enriching experiences. The Lewis Honors College first-year experience begins with early move-in to the Honors Residential Experience and orientation at Lewis Launch. Then the College facilitates the student's introduction to the Center for Personal Development and to their own dedicated Honors advisor. Every semester, the Lewis Honors College hosts a variety of events to complement students' academic, professional, co-curricular, and well-being interests. Students may choose how and when to engage with these opportunities, and their participation takes many forms. Some students will develop their leadership skills by taking on College-supported roles such as Peer Mentors or HCATS. Others may choose to become involved in other parts of campus. Honors students are expected to be citizens of their University and their world, and to possess an inquisitive attitude toward a wide range of ideas and intellectual concepts. We count on all students to open the weekly newsletters, attend events and get engaged in activities of interest, help us improve by coming to Town Halls and taking our surveys. We encourage you: Join a club... Ask a question... Apply for a grant... Study Abroad with other Honors Students... Find your own way of making a positive impact... Wear your Lewis Honors College Medallion to Commencement.

We are here to serve you, but can only do it when you get involved and tell us what you need.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION (DEI)

The Lewis Honors College affirms the commitment of the University of Kentucky to enhance the diversity, equity, and inclusivity of our University community through recruitment and retention of an increasingly diverse population of faculty, administrators, staff, and students, and by implementing initiatives that provide rich diversity-related experiences for all to help ensure their success in an interconnected world. Because we know that structural inequalities affect students of minoritized and underrepresented groups, our initiatives aim to increase understanding of and reduce bias, discrimination, and prejudice, as well as affirm the identities of our students, faculty, and staff. Fostering an inclusive and diverse Lewis Honors College community is crucial to the fulfillment of our mission to better the Commonwealth of Kentucky by helping students to explore their purpose, develop intellectually, and lead with integrity. We are guided by our value for mutual respect and human dignity for all and opposition to hatred of any person or group.

BENEFITS OF HONORS AND SERVICES WE PROVIDE

ACADEMIC ADVISING

Lewis Honors College advising is practical, personal, and purposeful.

Practical: Honors advisors meet students in individual consultations and provide information on course selection and Honors requirements. Honors advisors encourage exploration while identifying integrated opportunities for students to meet both Honors and major requirements. Honors advisors work with students to co-construct academic plans, engage in problem-solving, connect with campus resources, and evaluate various options to achieve individual academic goals. Advisors send students to Center for Personal Development (CPD) Counselors, who can further assist students in honing life skills, pursuing career interests, and in career preparation.

Personal: LHC advising is highly relational and individualized. LHC advisors act as guides to personal success by working closely with students from orientation through completion of the Honors thesis and graduation.

Purposeful: LHC advising is a two-way partnership. Advisors serve as active collaborators in a student's reflective process. LHC advisors appropriately challenge and support students as they discover their unique path to success. LHC advisors employ a range of techniques to help students think through complex situations and arrive at their own interpretations and solutions. By working with LHC advisors, students will come to appreciate their individual role in knowledge construction and decision making.

Academic Advising Appointments

Students can make appointments with their assigned advisor through their myUK account.

Lewis Honors College advisors serve as an additional source of academic counseling that is supplementary to the students' major advisors. The Lewis Honors College is a natural home for students who have multiple academic goals and a significant amount of academic flexibility due to their rigorous high-school course work in AP/IB and dual credit courses.

Students are required to meet regularly with their Honors advisors. These appointments help to ensure students remain on track to complete their Honors requirements prior to graduation. Appointments are also used to support students in their decision-making process so that course selection remains in alignment with their educational goals.

Required appointments include:

First-Year Students – Two appointments during the first full academic year

Sophomores – One appointment in the spring semester, completion of Honors 4-year plan

Juniors – One appointment in the semester prior to Honors thesis proposal submission

Seniors – Thesis proposal, completion, submission, UKnowledge

Students are welcome and encouraged to make appointments with their advisors at any time during the semester beyond those listed as required. Students can also be in touch with their advisor via phone or email.

Advisors can help students submit Course agreements, identify pre-approved and beneficial EXP opportunities, and strategize about paths to complete Honors.

Supplemental documents include:

- Honors Bridge

CENTER FOR PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Lewis Honors College's Center for Personal Development is a unique and valuable opportunity for students. This team of counselors helps students to explore their purpose by cultivating self-awareness, well-being, and career readiness. They work in conjunction with academic advisors to provide additional support that goes beyond a student's academic course of study.

Services are provided through individual sessions and college-wide events and programs. There are four primary categories of the Center for Personal Development program components which provide a holistic approach as students realize their potential. They include:

Personal Reflection: Career and Leadership Assessments, Major & Career Exploration, Self-Awareness Training, and Well-being Habits

Professional Polish: Public Speaking & Nonverbal Impact, Resume & CV Development, LinkedIn Strategy, Interviewing Skills, and Business & Dining Etiquette

Experiential Practice: Experiential Education (including: internships, service learning, education abroad, research) and Leadership Development

Post-Graduate Pursuits: Networking with Alumni & Employers, Graduate/Professional School Planning, and Job Search Strategy

Each Lewis Honors College student is paired with a personal development counselor to form a collaborative partnership for reaching goals. Students meet with counselors regarding:

Stress management	Nonverbal impact	Grad school strategy
Self-concept/confidence	Career assessment	Resume/CV
Setting boundaries	Career decision-making	Interviewing skills
Time management	Experiential education	Networking strategy
Public speaking	Job search strategy	And more...

All first-year students should meet with their personal development counselor at least once during the first full academic year in the Honors College. The Honors Bridge can provide a structure for setting goals with your counselor. Upper-class students are encouraged to connect with their designated counselor to work on goals throughout their time at Lewis Honors College. Students are notified of their counselor assignment by email and can see their information through MyUK GPS as well.

Personal Development Appointments

The Center for Personal Development is located within the Lewis Honors College and is open on weekdays between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Our team is available for appointments in-person or on Zoom. Appointments are scheduled using Handshake.

LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Providing leadership development and opportunities for Honors students is central to the mission of the Lewis Honors College. There are multiple roles available to students that are focused on key programs provided throughout the Honors student lifecycle such as Lewis Launch Leader, Peer Mentor, Lewis Liaison, and Honors College Ambassador Team. In addition, the Honors College offers the Rising Leaders Program which is designed to engage Honors students from all academic majors in an experiential leadership development program.

HONORS RESIDENTIAL EXPERIENCE

The Honors Residential Experience provides students the opportunity to live among like-minded peers who are intellectually curious and prioritize their studies, well-being, and community. Honors housing provides students with opportunities for engagement in programs that are holistic in nature – attending to all facets of well-being (intellectual, physical, social, spiritual, environmental, financial, occupational, and emotional). Students in this distinctive community enjoy opportunities to engage with faculty, staff, and guest speakers during interdisciplinary programs. Residents also have access to a relaxation room designed specifically for high-achieving students. The goal is for members to become life-long learners as they aspire to live a balanced life in their communities and society beyond the University of Kentucky experience.

PRIORITY REGISTRATION

All Honors students qualify for priority registration and will have access to the course booking window earlier than the majority of the University of Kentucky undergraduates. This benefit enables students to be intentional about their course selections in support of the mission of the Lewis Honors College.

GRANTS AND AWARDS

Applications can be found on the Honors College website. Student grant funds will be awarded based on the strength of the application, level of financial assistance currently being distributed to the student, and need relative to the cost of the program or experience that the student is applying for. Please keep in mind while creating your application that we wish to provide an opportunity for all Honors students to engage in learning outside of the classroom.

There are three main categories for funding: 1) Undergraduate Research and Travel Grants, 2) Experiential Learning Grants, and 3) Education Abroad Funding. All use the same application form, here.

THE FINE PRINT

FEE

Students enrolled in Lewis Honors College are charged a semesterly fee of $250. These fees support the work of the college in many different ways (programming, Center for Personal Development, Advising, and so on). Fees are waived for students who are Pell-grant eligible. All students admitted to the Lewis Honors College receive a minimum of $1,000. scholarship funds from UK upon enrollment, which in effect covers the fee for the first two years.

WITHDRAWING FROM HONORS

Students may voluntarily withdraw from the Lewis Honors College at any time by completing a Withdrawl Form, located on the Academic Forms page on the Honors College website. On the form, students will be asked to submit the following information: 1) student name; 2) student ID number; 3) email address; 4) college and major; and, 5) reason for their withdrawal.

Students will be contacted by their Honors advisor to confirm the submission of their request. Students should be aware that communication from the LHC may continue for up to two weeks after their request is processed.

Withdrawal will result in the student losing access to all LHC benefits, including enrollment in any HON courses for the upcoming semester and priority registration. Credit earned in Honors classes prior to withdrawal will remain on a student's transcript and count towards their GPA and degree requirements.

Students must submit their withdrawal form by the last day of the add/drop period in order to receive a refund on their Honors fee for the current semester.
